Three ways you can slow it down this summer.

Summer, when all the air conditioners are humming, is the time when our customers use more power than at any other time of year. To meet the demand this summer, you can be sure that we'll be doing everything we can to provide you with all the power you need. We'll be using our available units to capacity, and if necessary, we'll be buying power from our neighboring utilities.

If you pitch in by following the steps below, you can help us make it through the summer.

1. Don't overcool your home. Set your home air conditioner's thermostat at 78° or higher, or not more than 15° cooler than the temperature outside, whichever is the higher setting.

For every degree cooler than 78°, your air conditioner uses about 5% more energy. So a 73° setting means you're using 25% more energy than you would at a 78° setting.

By watching your thermostat, you'll save energy at a time when it's most important.

And you'll save money, too.

2. Do the big jobs early. Or late. We call it Hot Watch. The hours between 10 A.M. and 10 P.M. are the "peak load" hours, when the most electricity is being used and the chance of shortages is greatest.

So try to restrict your use of major appliances and hot water during these hours.

Do your baking and laundry before 10 A.M. Turn on the dishwasher just before you go to bed. Shower before 10 A.M. or after 10 P.M.

You won't be using less energy, but you'll be using it when we have power to spare. And that will reduce our need to build costly power plants.

3. Give your water heater a rest. It will save money and energy. With the exception of heating and cooling systems, the water heater is the biggest energy user in your home.

Use your dishwasher and washing machine only for full loads. Wash clothes in cool or warm water instead of hot.

With your help we can save energy and make it through the summer. And that's important to all of us.

Miss Joyce Foster

Receives Degree

Joyce Foster, twin daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Monroe Foster of Farmville, who completed degree requirements for Ph. D. in Biochemistry ande Nutrition, in March, received her diploma at the graduation exercises recently at the Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University.

A graduate of Prince Edward Academy, she was a member of the National Honor Society, reporter for the school newspaper, editor of the Year Book, and a 4-H All-Star.

She entered Longwood College and completed requirements for a Virginia State Teacher's Certificate in the fall of 1973 after student teaching in the Prince George County Virginia public school system. She received her Bachelor of Science Degree, summa cum laude in 1974.

Upon matriculating at the VPI & SU in the summer of that year, she began work toward a Master of Science degree in the department of Biochemistry and Nutrition under the direction of Dr. John Hess. Completing degree requirements in August of 1976, she entered the Ph. D. program continuing graduate training with Dr. Hess. She held a graduate assistantship for a year and a graduate research assistantship for the remainder of her graduate career. She has reported on various aspects of her research at the annual meetings of the Virginia Academy of Science, The American Society of Plant Physiologist, The American Society of Biological Chemists and the Beltwide Cotton Conference.

While working on the Ph. D. she served as president of the graduate Student Assembly and was a member of the graduate relations committee of the Commission on Graduate Studies and Research. She is a member of the American Society of Plant Physiologists, American Chemical Society, American Association for the Advancement of Science, Virginia Academy of Science, and the American Association of University Professors, and holds membership in the following honorary societies: Sigma Xi, Phi Kappa Phi, Phi Sigma, Phi Lambda Upsilon, Phi Tau Sigma, Omicron Delta Kappa, Kappa Delts Pi, Alpha Lambda ande Lynchnos.

Dr. Foster has been on the teaching staff at VPI & SU since March and will begin Post Doctoral research at the University of Wisconsin in Madison this Fall. She is the daughter of the former Louise Torrence and grand daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Samuel E. Torrence of Appomattox.

Angus Showmanship Winners Selected

HARRISONBURG, June 16 - The Virginia Junior Angus Association State Showmanship Contest was held recently in conjunction with the Virginia Junior Beef Roundup in Harrisonburg. Debbie Sowers of Winchester and Becky MacIntosh of Appomattox were chosen to represent Virginia at the National Junior Angus Show in Indianapolis, Indiana on July 19-20. Debbie and Becky competed with youngsters throughout the state and were chosen as the top showmen for their skills in handling and showing Angus beef cattle. Alternates in the contest were Linda Mrotek of Brightwood and Rhonda Kibler of Woodstock. In the 14 year old and younger category fo the State Showmanship Contest, Todd Mrotek of Brightwood was selected as the winner. All winners are active members of the Virginia Junior Angus Association, which is one of the largest junior purebred organizations in the country. The official judge for the State Showmanship Contest was Dennis Lamm of Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University in Blacksburg.

Mayor Spiggle Speaks to Ruritans

On July 5, 1979 Ronald Spiggle, Mayor of the Town of Appomattox, spoke to the Oakville Ruritan Club.

Spiggle talked about patriotism and how each individual citizen can have a voice in the operation of our government. The responsibility of each citizen to get out and vote was emphasized.

Horace Coleman, Ruritan Zone Governor, spoke to the club about Ruritan matters.
